

Meet

Victor DiGenti,

Author of the

Windrusher Series

Victor DiGenti spent more than thirty-five years working in public broadcasting as a director, public affairs producer, head of a two-station corporate communications department, and was responsible for special events, including producing the acclaimed Jacksonville Jazz Festival for eight years. After his retirement, Vic turned to his first love—writing. He found inspiration in his volunteer work with feral and abandoned cats and in his household of feline critters, writing three adventure/fantasies with a feline protagonist. Windrusher, Windrusher and the Cave of Tho-hoth and Windrusher and the Trail of Fire, have won numerous awards and appeal to readers of all ages.

Vic will visit the library to talk about his books, the business of publishing, and provide an overview of the fantasy genre and elements of myth in today's culture. A dynamic speaker who often presents programs at writer's conferences, Vic is sure to educate as well as entertain. This FREE public program is on:

Saturday, February 7, 2009 1:00 p.m.

At the

Brunswick-Glynn County Library

208 Gloucester Street

Brunswick, Georgia 31520

912 267-1212

Books will be available for purchase and signing.