

FIRST IN THE SERIES

Learn what others think of this fascinating steampunk novel

Scott Westerfeld's young adult novel Leviathan will be discussed at the Camden County Public Library on January 23, 2012 @ 4:30 pm in the Community Room.

The novel unfolds at the beginning of World War I with global conflict between the Clankers, who put their faith in the machines, and the Darwinists, whose technology is based on the development of new species.

As a growing niche in the science fiction genre, this steampunk novel is sure to be popular amidst middle schoolers, young adults and adults alike.

The book may be obtained through the library by using the existing hold system which you can access online from home.

For more information, please see Miss Margie or Miss Toni.