Lodi Palmer, center, president of the St. Simons Library League, presented a $2,000 check to Libby Hogan, left, of the Glynn County Libraries Board of Trustees, and Linda Bolton Kean, director of Three Rivers Regional Library System, recently at Bonefish Grill. The donation will fund the summer reading program at St. Simons Island Public Library.

Library League donates $2,000 to St. Simons Island Public Library

ST. SIMONS ISLAND – The St. Simons Island Library League has donated $2,000 to St. Simons Island Public Library for its 2010 summer reading programs.

Lodi Palmer, president of the St. Simons Library League, said the fundraising organization is dedicated to supporting the library simply because it's important.

"It's like asking, 'Why is the sun important?' or 'Why is that tree important?'" Palmer said, laughing. "It is because it just is."

This year's summer theme for children is "Make a Splash," and "Make Waves" and "Water Your Mind" for teens and adults. The lineup of programs includes films, Curious Moon Puppets, juggler Ron Anglin, illustrator Michael White, puppeteer/magician Tommy Johns, a water adventure with Scott Douglas, and more.

Registration for the summer program is June 1-4, in Room 108 of the Casino Building.
